AT A GLANCE

Target

- all Greek students of middle and high schools

Key activities

- Search for information on careers via internet
- Talk with parents on their professions
- Creating videos or ppts presenting professions

DESCRIPTION

Students are invited to use the internet as an educational tool, on the one hand, in order to search for information on the profession they are thinking of following, and on the other hand, in order to identify the opportunities that the internet provides for making use of the professions. Additionally, they talk with their parents on their professions. According to their research, they create a video presenting the profession that inspires them or that of their parents.

IMPACT- LESSONS

A practice that can be implemented in all schools to foster students' interest towards their career orientation. Through this practice, students learn to:

- identify the elements of their personality
- combine professions with educational and professional options
- determine the abilities and skills they possess and which they do not
- recognize the factors that influence in choosing a profession
- research different occupations
- realize the importance of information for life in general but also for the choice of studies and profession
- familiarize themselves with the various sources of information
- use the internet in a safe and constructive way
- develop presentation and self-presentation skills

OBJECTIVES

The main goal of the program is to engage students in an interactive way in their career orientation, through the internet use. Exploring the opportunities of their parents' professions or the professions they want to pursue is sure to open up new horizons. But mainly they will turn their interest, even for a while, to beneficial paths on the internet and increase their motivation towards their future career plans.
